STATEMENT

As an illustrator, one of my greatest skills is speed. I've always been naturally fast, but having majored in sequential art with an emphasis on storyboarding, I honed that skill further. In addition to my efficiency, I work in a wide range of styles. I can accurately achieve the likeness of any cartoon character and I am proficient in character design. Scrolling through my online portfolio you'll see a wide variety of aesthetic choices. This sets me apart from other illustrators who may be bogged down by one particular style.

I've had my work shown in Brooklyn as well as Savannah. I've received recognition from high-profile figures like Childish Gambino and Anthony Fantano. I've designed stickers and screen printed t-shirts with my designs, all of which sold out. Most recently, I created the logo for Brutus Bone Broth, an innovative pet-food brand. I have a solid work ethic and I'm a passionate artist who is eager to collaborate full-time or on a project basis with visionary creatives.
